THE TRIBUNE will next week
give the people of La Crosse and vicinity their first AVIATION MEET.

AVIATION DAY will be next Thursday, Oct. 12. The flights will take place in the Interstate Fair grounds.

The machines will be a Curtiss biplane and a Curtiss hydro-aero-plane.

Hugh Robinson, aviator of international fame, and Glen Curtiss, choice for the Minneapolis to New Orleans flight against Atwood's world's record, will be the chief aviator. Another Curtiss aviator will be present and may make a flight.

The Tribune closed its contract for the event with the Curtiss Exhibition company today. It also closed a contract this morning for the fair grounds.

The flight has advance assurance of success. Owing to the fact that two separate and distinct aeroplanes will be on hand, one of them the best bad weather machine in existence, Mr. Curtiss contracts positively to deliver at least one perfect and sustained flight.

A Fortunate Deal

Seldom has a city the size of La Crosse secured so advantageous an arrangement. In most cases beginners are sent out to small cities, men of little experience who make mistakes or lack nerve. But Hugh Robinson, the daring, is always dependable. Hugh Robinson, aerial stocky in the world's most famous aeroplane race is a seasoned, veteran. Hugh Robinson, the sensational life saver of the Chicago international meet ALWAYS FLIES.

When the Trans-Mississippi Flight Association wanted an absolutely fearless, resourceful and reliable man to make the Minneapolis to New Orleans flight, of all the forty famous aviators who were candidates, Pres. H. A. Tuttle chose HUGH ROBINSON. And it is HUGH ROBINSON whose guarantee we have that THE TRIBUNE'S AVIA-TION DAY will be a SUCCESS.

Will Fly to City

HUGH ROBINSON will FLY into La Crosse. He will alight in the river near the foot of Main street, in the only exhibition hydro-aero-plane in the world, on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 11. His great Curtiss biplane will be awaiting him, in charge of another aviator and a mechanic. Perhaps the celebrated team-mate of Robinson, is not settled.

"Up She Goes"

At 3:30 sharp on the afternoon of the following day, Thursday, Robinson will start the motor of his biplane out in the Interstate Fair grounds. The great fan will begin making 2,000 revolutions per minute, and the machine will first glide then shoot along the ground until it reaches the necessary speed to take the air. As nearly as possible it will be just in front of the grandstand that the air pressure on the big plane will turn the nose of the machine skyward, and with the swift, graceful motion of a huge bird the big biplane will mount to the skies.

Expect Great Crowd

All railroads running into La Crosse will furnish information to people living in the surrounding cities and towns, and it is expected that there will be an attendance of many thousands from territory within 100 miles of La Crosse.

As this is to be not only the first aeroplane flight ever seen in La Crosse, but the first to be given nearer than Chippewa Falls and Dubuque, it is anticipated that interest will be widespread.

LA CROSSE SENDS A RELIEF TRAIN

"We want food; we want clothing; we need money. People are starving."

This is the message which the mayor of Black River Falls this morning telephoned Mayor John Dengler from the top of a telephone pole.

Mayor Dengler immediately appointed a relief committee,
and at 1:15 a car load of provisions and clothing left for the scene of the disaster in charge of Mayor Dengler, Frank H.
Burgess, manager of The Tribune, and A. R. Olsen.

Upon receipt of the message
Mayor Dengler appointed a relief committee consisting of John C. Burns, Frank Sisson, C.
S. Van Auker, William Wigen-horn, C. Tidale, Wm. F. Hurtgen, J. M. Hixon and all the newspapers.

The committee decided that there was no time to raise funds,
and upon their own responsibility purchased the necessary supplies, which were gathered and loaded under the direction of John C. Burns.

HE'S A PARACHUTE JUMPER

He's an Auto Racer of Dare-devil Achievements

BUT SAY, WHAT'S THE USE

He's Just Now the Most Talked of Aviator in the World, and He's Coming

Hugh Robinson, the famous aviator who will appear here in THE TRIBUNE'S aeroplane meet next Thursday, won his spurs by combining with his courage and physical strength and alertness the application of brains. His head is always working. That is why he has traveled over 6,000 miles in the air, in exhibitions, endurance tests and races, with only a single minor accident.

Robinson must have been early inoculated with the spirit of adventure. Although a builder of gasoline engines, and manager of the largest motor factories in the east,
he has always been on the firing line when a perilous sport called or a dangerous invention was to be exploited. Here are some of his experiences:

He is a motorcycle racer.

He is an automobile racer.

He helped Curtiss design the hydro-aeroplane.

He flew in it in its experimental stages.

He has been an aeronaut and parachute jumper.

He invented and raced with the famous hydrocurve boat which recently broke Mississippi river records.

He built an aeroplane of his own when the game was new, the first monoplane in America, and flew in it.

He raced Beachy from New York to Philadelphia, creating a sensation.

He raced the Disturber II, the record-breaking motorboat, in his record-aeroplane on Lake Michigan, at the recent Chicago meet, and BEAT
IT.

During that meet, flying in his hydro-aeroplane, he saved the lives of two aviators whose machines had fallen into the lake. They were Simon, the French aviator who flew a Bleriot monoplane, and Hammond in a Baldwin biplane.

He is now seeking, in his Minneapolis to New Orleans flight, to break Atwood's 1,600 flight by flying over the water a distance of over 1,900 miles.

Robertson coppers the bet that "13" is unlucky. He was born on Friday, the 13th, and he insists on his aeroplane being numbered "13."

His "Loop the Loop"

Robinson first sprang into fame,
or rather rode into it, when he essayed to loop the loop on a motorcycle, going at a mile in less than nothing clip. The first time Robinson wasn't successful. For three weeks he lay on a cot in a New York hospital, and counted the flowers on the wall. A week later he was at it again. This time he did it. Then he began drawing the biggest salary of any acrobatic dare devil in this country. But a few months of this career convinced Robinson that it was anything but pleasant. So he began looking around for something more to his liking.

On his first practice flight in an aeroplane he was instructed by Glen Curtiss, the master aviator, to run the machine along the ground. This is the way Robinson tells it:

"The first thing I stayed on the earth for about two minutes after they turned it loose. Then it jumped into the air like a duck. I'd been at the balloon game but this was different. I pulled the wheel towards me and she went up so quickly that I came near sliding out backwards.
When I went to pull it back it had been jammed. I kept going up. Finally I managed to work it loose.
Then I came down."

Robinson paused and asked for a match. "What happened then?"
inquired an interested bystander.
"Oh, nothing much," said Robinson. "The doctors and nurses were very kind to me."

the coming of the relief train that left La Crosse at noon.

WILL YOU HELP?

"The relief committee has taken it upon itself to order supplies for the relief of our suffering neighbors at Black River Falls. They are homeless, cold and hungry, worn out with their terrible experience. We had no time to consult, we had to act. We knew the good people of La Crosse would back us and pay the bill.
Say to them through The Tribune that we wish they would send their subscriptions to the committee, or to the city hall, or to The Tribune."

John Dengler, Mayor.

The Tribune believes the above appeal from Mayor Dengler will go to the hearts of the people of La Crosse. We are receiving contributions at this office, and are prepared in every way to co-operate with the mayor, the relief committee and the public in doing all that can be done to relieve the suffering of the unfortunate populace of Black River Falls. Therefore, to that of His Honor, we add our urgent appeal for succor for the unhappy inhabitants of sufferers. Send your contributions promptly to Mayor Dengler, a member of the committee, or The Tribune.

Swirling and snarling, with an ever increasing roar and with an ever growing volume, carrying the debris of wrecked buildings and bridges on its crest, the flood that descended on the town of Black River Falls yesterday lifted frame buildings from their foundations and undermined others of brick and stone until they toppled into the seething waters, while the rain drenched crowds stood in miserable groups on the highlands watching the ruin of their beautiful little city.

While warned in ample time by the Wisconsin Telephone company, the people of the doomed town were inclined to doubt the seriousness of the situation until it was too late to empty the store buildings in the path of the flood and nearly all the contents of the stores were lost in the general ruin. The people had seen floods in other years and had survived with but minor losses and it was thought that this would prove no different than the others.

Flood Goes Over Dam

Instead of taking the main channels as it did in other seasons of high water, the destructive wave this time took its main course over the power dam, breaking up Town Creek which has its outlet a short distance below the power house, undermining the buildings that were situated on its sandy banks and shot down Water and Main streets with an irresistible force.

The river makes two sweeping turns in front of the town. Coming from the east, it swings south for a distance of about five blocks when it again resumes an easterly direction. Water street is parallel with the water front for the full distance that it runs south. Water street suffered the most.

DISPATCH SAYS WEST WING HATFIELD DAM WENT OUT AT 3:30 P. M. COMPANY DENIES IT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.,

Oct. 7.—A special dispatch
from Neillsville, Wis., says:

"The west wing of the Hatfield dam has gone out.

The loss to the company will be over $200,000. The reservoirs at the Dells dam and Hatfield have been released on the country below in one large flood. The balance of the $2,000,000
Hatfield dam can not long withstand the pressure from above. The property loss between Neillsville and Hatfield will amount to $500,000. The water is still rising."

A telegram received late this afternoon at the offices of the Water Power company here from W. J. Ferris, president of the company, says, "Water receding. Dells and Hatfield dams in perfect condition.
Embankments at both points broken through."

The office discredits the Neillsville dispatch.

ALMOST FRANTIC WITH ECZEMA ON HANDS

Began with itching. Spread Fast. Fingers Fairly Bled. Cried Night and Day. Tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Entirely Cured.

"Eight years ago I got eczema all over my hands. My fingers fairly bled and it itched until it almost drove me frantic. The eruption began with itching under the skin. It spread fast from between the fingers around the nails and all over the whole hands. I got a pair of rubber gloves in order to wash dishes. Then it spread all over the left side of my chest. A fine doctor treated the trouble two weeks, but did me no good. I cried night and day. Then I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, but without much hope as I had gone so long. There was a marked change the second day, and so on until I was entirely cured. The Cuticura Soap we have always kept in our home, and we decided after that lesson that it is a cheap soap in price and the very best in quality. My husband will use no other soap in his shaving mug. I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'" (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Saby, Redondo Beach, Cal., Jan. 15, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are for sale throughout the world, but to those who have suffered much, lost hope and are without faith in any treatment, a liberal sample of each together with 32-p. booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp will be mailed free, on application. CITY MISSION DAY TO BE HELD HERE

All Churches Will Join in Services to Be Given Under Auspices of City Mission

The people of La Crosse will soon have an opportunity of judging for themselves the value of the work done and good that has been accomplished, during the past year by the City Mission.

It has been definitely settled that the several churches of the city will remain closed on the morning of Sunday, Oct. 29, their various congregations being invited to meet at the La Crosse Theatre for a grand Union Service, at 10:30 o'clock for the benefit of the Mission.

It will be the aim of this meeting to more intimately acquaint the citizens of La Crosse with the nature of this work and the benefits derived therefrom.

Men, who have been saved from a life of degradation and sin, will be there to testify to the saving power of God as shown them through the workers of the Mission, many now leading upright Christian lives.

There will be reports of people saved, clothes and meals furnished the needy, also various matters of a surprising and interesting nature, that will provide food for thought and will enlighten many whose ideas of City Mission work has been very crude.

Out of town speakers, among them, Mr. U. V. Sillaway of Milwaukee, Mr. W. Van Domelin of Muskegon, Mich., and Mr. P. MacFarlane, St. Paul, Minn., will be present and a musical program provided consisting of a double quartet assisted by a large chorus selected from the various church's Young People's Societies, under leadership of Mr. James Kerr.

This meeting should prove wonderfully interesting, nothing of a like nature ever before having been attempted and a large attendance is earnestly hoped for and devoutly desired, thus assisting and assuring success for coming year of a most worthy institution of La Crosse.

WHAT HE HAD IN THE CHEST

All Was Made Clear When the Man Carrying it Got Off the Train.

Man in an elevated car with a small chest about twice as big as the box in which a carpenter carries a selected lot of tools around with him on his shoulder. A row of augur holes bored in the end of his chest and a handle on top by which to carry it.

There were only three or four people in the car and this man with the chest sat away down at one end, and with that chest on the floor in front he would about once in so often raise his lid just a little, but you couldn't see in.

In due course of time the train arrived at the station where the man was to get off, and then he hooked the lid of that chest down and took it by the handle and walked out in the most matter of fact manner possible, but when he had got about ten feet away from the foot of the steps he set the chest down and unhooked the hooks and threw back the lid and out hopped two small, white, shaggy, odd-looking but intelligent dogs. They wagged their tails with evident pleasure at getting their feet on the ground once more and out in the open air.

The man hooked the lid of the chest down again and picked it up by its handle and then with the two dogs trotting beside him, each on a leash held in the other hand, he started on for where he was going.

HISTORY OF OLD FORT LEE

Consisted Merely of Earthworks and Was Abandoned by Order of General Washington.

The Fort Lee of revolutionary days was on top of the Palisades, about two miles up the river from the village of Edgewater, where the Fort Lee ferry has its New Jersey landing. In the strict sense of the word, it was hardly worthy of being called a fort, since it consisted merely of earthworks, of which not a vestige is to be seen today.

Tradition says that the fort was laid out by Gen. Israel Putnam, and some of the historians thus account for the fact that the defenses were rather expansive for their purpose. At first it was called Fort Constitution, but was soon re-named Fort Lee.

This temporary stronghold was really constructed to co-operate with Fort Washington, on the New York side of the Hudson, in the defense of the river. In the beginning it was believed that the two defenses would be able to turn the British war fleet back and prevent it from getting up the river to West Point.

But from the first Washington is known to have questioned its usefulness and it was on his orders that it was finally evacuated. In November, 1776, all that was left of the American army in New Jersey abandoned the fort and set out on its historic retreat to Philadelphia.

Tradition says that there was a fort under the cliff of the river front at some point not far from Edgewater earlier in the revolution, but there is no authentic record of its existence and it therefore cannot be credited.

The most handicapping delusions of all is fear.

NEW STORE IS FORMALLY OPENED

Many Attend Formal Opening of New Lennon Millinery Store Today

The formal opening of the new Lennon Millinery store, 410 Main street, took place this morning. A large number of ladies, who have been patrons of Miss A. Lennon for the ten years during which she operated a department in the Reitzel store, attended the formal opening of the new store, and examined the large and up-to-date stock which is carried.

Miss Lennon purchased the business from T. J. Farlan Millinery company, July 11. Since then the store has been undergoing a process of remodeling and general renovation, and is now conceded to be the neatest and handsomest store of its kind in the city. The store occupies two floors, the first floor being devoted to millinery, ladies' furnishings, and similar articles, and the second floor containing the dressmaking parlors, restrooms, and stockrooms.

The dressmaking department is under the personal charge of Miss Emma Belling, an experienced dress maker of known reputation in La Crosse. Miss Belling has just returned from attending the National Dressmakers' convention in Chicago. On the main floor, the east side of the salesroom is devoted to millinery, under the supervision of Miss Ida H. Lennon, for many years with the E. R. Barron Co. and Miss B. Verket. The west side of the room displays corsets, shell goods, hair goods, gloves, and other varieties of ladies' furnishings. This department is under the personal supervision of Miss Lennon herself.

The workroom in the rear, which employs nine experienced trimmers, is in charge of Miss Vida Sutton, Chicago, an experienced and competent trimmer, assisted by Miss Gertrude Moews.

The store has been repainted and papered, and many repairs have been made.

If Wisconsin street did not know about changing its name to East Grand avenue, would Juneau? Trouble always carries a measuring tape—but we don't have to let him put it on us.

New Skin Absorber In Great Demand

(National Drug Review)
Since the discovery that mercolized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renewer has been tremendous. Druggists in every section report sales as far exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.

The mercolide in the wax, according to Prof. Hoffman, gently absorbs the devitalized cuticle, in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old, worn-out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, tan and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As mercolized wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The wax is applied to face, neck or hands the same as cold cream, allowed to remain over night, then washed off with warm water.

NO MORE MISERY IN THE STOMACH

Dyspepsia, Gas and Indigestion vanish and your Stomach feels fine in five minutes

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea. Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why Diapiesin always relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bilioussness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some Pape's Diapiesin now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

PROGRESS OF FRENCH WOMEN

If Moliere Lived Now He Would Not Ridicule Their Education and Activities.

Thirty years ago there were three colleges for women in France and one preparatory school; now there are seventy-five colleges and forty-nine preparatory schools. What does the change mean? Moliere, over two centuries ago, in "Les Precieuses Ridicules" and "Les Femmes Savantes," attacked the pose, self-consciousness and loss of proportion which the women of his time sometimes showed in attempting to be learned. Moliere laughed, however, not at education, but at lack of common sense. If he lived now he would not try to set back the clock, and ask women to devote to the needle the same attention that she gave before machinery was invented. He would not ask her to live as she lived before there were public schools for her children; creameries to make her butter and cheese; big manufactures to take her place in preserving food; immense combinations to spin cotton, make cloth, do the dyeing, make up the clothing. He would welcome the vacuum cleaner, the gas stove and the dumb waiter, and his laughter would be not for those who use modern labor saving devices, but for the futile sentimentalists who cry for the vanishing of the past. The outside education and activities of women are as unquestionable and irresistible as the printing press, the steam engine and the cotton gin.—Collier's Weekly.

HELP CAME JUST IN TIME

Lady in Pierce Relates An Experience of Interest to All Girls and Women

Pierce, Neb.—Mrs. Dollie Schilowsky, of this place, says: "Cardui did me so much good! I had dreadful backache and dizziness, and suffered from pains in my eyes and in the back of my head, as well as low down in my body."

Sometimes, it seemed like I would die with the pain. I was compelled to see the doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, I began to take Cardui, and three bottles gave me great relief. My health is getting better every day.

I can recommend Cardui to suffering women, for it helped me wonderfully. It is a wonderful medicine."

Other women, who suffer as Mrs. Schilowsky did, should learn from her what to do, to be relieved. Take Cardui.

For women's pains, for female troubles, for nervousness, for weakness, it is the best remedy you can use, the most reliable you can obtain.

For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping weak and miserable men back to health and happiness. These many years of success prove its merit.

Pure, strictly vegetable, perfectly harmless, Cardui is sure to help and will leave no disagreeable after-effects. Try it.

FINE PRE-NORMAN CHURCH

Remarkably Well Preserved Edifice at Worth Was Built Long Before the Conquest.

Many churches in Britain owe their origin to the piety of the Norman invader, but these which antedate this great period of church building are not so numerous. One such pre-Norman edifice is the fine old parish church of Worth, near Three Bridges. A little book, written by Rev. Arthur Bridge, the rector of Worth, tells the history of what is aptly described as one of the most remarkable relics of a bygone age. It seems probable that the church passed with the Manor of Worth under the will of Alfred the Great to his third son, Ethelward. Archaeologists will be lavish of thanks to Mr. Bridge for the interesting and useful little record of his unique church. He tells us that Worth exhibits the earliest example of the purely English cruciform building, and its semi-circular eastern end is of very ancient date. But the whole church, as might be gathered, possess many features which make it of peculiar fascination to the student of the antique. The windows, for instance, have not suffered "restoration," and are well known to all students of architecture here and on the continent.—Dundee Advocate.

George C. Boldt, the hotel man, was talking in New York about wines. "The average American is now a good judge of wine," said Mr. Boldt. "He is no longer fooled by elaborate and imposing labels. He has learned to appreciate a wine's bouquet, flavor and body."

"I heard the other day a mild-looking chap in a restaurant who said: 'I understand they've been having wine riots in France, waiter.'"

"Yes, sir; I believe so, sir," the waiter answered.

"Well," said the mild-looking chap, "the wine you've served me here would be enough to start a riot anywhere."

TO LOOK IS TO "SEE RED"

Much comment is caused by intense hostility to President Taft and equally intense desire to advance the fortunes of Senator La Follette. Now Collier's is notorious for the betrayal of its friends. It believes in Secretary Fisher, but it will turn on him whenever it sees cause. It will not do so, however, for the sake of embarrassing the administration. It would eagerly welcome Mr. La Follette as republican candidate for president, but it will not therefore endeavor to paint Mr. Taft as a devil. It believes Robert La Follette to be a man of noble character and superb record; studious, brave and devoted; but it need not therefore side with him on reciprocity, supreme court decisions and the Aldrich currency plan. It has been disappointed in Mr. Taft on the tariff, on conservation and on his treatment of the insurgents, but it hopes it is not weak enough to be stung in its approval when he appoints Graves, Fisher, Stimson, Emery, B. H. Meyer, Hughes, or when he works for peace or reciprocity. If we would scold him for vetoing the wool bill or for his folly in carrying a foolish campaign into the insurgent states, and yet not stand ready to praise him if he stands by Wiley and puts the right man in place of Wilson, we should be untrue to our own deepest convictions about the duty of the independent press. We know full well that some of Taft's supporters see so red that they hate Fisher because he was willing to go into the cabinet and thereby stifle the administration.

defeated his election had his personal attitude been known.

"I have taken the middle road, between the reactionaries and the progressives," says President Taft.

The president doesn't say he has supported those policies which were sustained by morality and justice, according to his convictions. He seems to admit that he just "straddled."

That is not the sort of "middle course" Collier's has been used to traveling.

Collier's finds pleasure in President Taft's appointment of such men as Hughes and Fisher. But are these appointments to be accepted as justification for the appointments of Wickersham and Ballinger? Must we put our trust in presidents whom we must whip into line for what is clean and just?

Collier's says it "would eagerly welcome Mr. La Follette as republican candidate for president." We are glad of that. Collier's says it "believes Robert La Follette to be a man of noble character and superb record; worthy of confidence and admiration; studious, brave and devoted." Can it say as much of Mr. Taft?

The insurgents who "see red" are inclined to feel that Collier's, in its wish to "give the devil his due," is drifting away from the issue. As it believes in reciprocity a la Taft and in Aldrich finance, it properly accords President Taft credit for them, because of his initiative in relation to them. But when it attempts to make the exoneration of Wiley and the appointment of Fisher weights to be placed at Taft's end of the balance, it employs faulty logic and begins to condone the worst things in Taftism.

Collier's has helped make the people of this country "see red." If they had not come to "see red," the old alliance between big business and politics would still be all-powerful, the emancipation of the citizen would not be near. To overthrow the organization of high finance is a task that requires the most determined efforts of a militant people, keyed to the fighting pitch by knowledge of their wrongs. Mr. Taft's sympathy has been with those who have profited by these wrongs; his inclination is to abet and defend the wrongdoers. Shall the public "turn the other cheek?"

Collier's should thank God for the people who "see red."

BE CANDID

The Milwaukee Journal thinks we are "hysterical" about the Stephenson case, and implies that for the state to have hired a lawyer would have made the hearing a "factional" issue. We did not say "hire a factionalist," we said "hire a lawyer." We suggested Brandeis, who is not a resident of the state. If it isn't "hysteria" for Stephenson to have a lawyer, why should it be "hysteria" for the people to have a lawyer? Is it "hysteria" to use the usual and most effective methods of getting at the truth?

The Journal says that "factional bias" vitiated the first Lorimer investigation. It did not. It started and prosecuted that investigation. It was the fact that the committee deliberately whitewashed him, in the face of evidence that convinced everyone that he was not entitled to his seat. If The Journal means to criticize the Chicago Tribune for its part in the matter, it probably forgets its own similar part in urging the first Stephenson probe. The only difference was that the Chicago paper did not quit. Does The Journal not know that but for The Chicago Tribune Lorimer would have occupied his seat without question? Did not, then, The Tribune do a great public service?

About our "hysteria," we aren't yet "safe and sane." Is The Journal "safe and sane" on the Stephenson issue? Its readers have learned to value its opinions, and usually it is not slow in expressing them. But it isn't in the habit of confining its editorial comment upon a big incident to an expression of confidence in a reactionary committee. This hearing has been in progress nearly a week, and The Journal has not mentioned it editorially. Readers don't want The Journal to indulge in "hysterics." They just want to know what it now thinks about Stephenson and the Stephenson case. Honest, now, what is your candid and unemotional opinion?

A contemporary announces that "pressure was brought to bear upon Mr. Bentley" to run for congress in this district. Mr. Bentley is a Stephenson appointee, and is a "regular." The "pressure" followed immediately upon the disappointment experienced by leaders when Mr. Esch burned his bridges. The incident of his candidacy is significant only of the fact that reactionary sentiment is more impetuous than logical, and that they will never learn that "enough is plenty."

He employed dishonest means in holding up the hands of those who were his agents in pursuing policies his adherence to which would have

CHAPTER III.

Trouble at Scratch Hill.

Captain Murrell had established himself at Balaam's Cross Roads. He was supposed to be interested in the purchase of a plantation, and in company with Crenshaw visited the numerous tracts of land which the merchant owned; but though he professed delight with the country, he was plainly in no haste to become committed to any one of the several propositions Crenshaw was eager to submit.

"The Barony would have suited me," he told Bladen one day. They had just returned from an excursion into the country and were seated in the lawyer's office.

"You say your father was a friend of the old general's?" said Bladen.

"Years ago, in the north—yes," answered Murrell.

Murrell regarded the lawyer in silence for a moment out of his deeply sunk eyes.

"Too bad about the boy," he said at length slowly.

"How do you mean, Captain?" asked Bladen.

"I mean it's a pity he has no one except Yancy to look after him," said Murrell; but Bladen showed no interest and Murrell went on. "Has Yancy any legal claim on the boy?"

"No, certainly not; the boy was merely left with Yancy because Crenshaw didn't know what else to do with him."

"Get possession of him, and if I don't buy land here I'll take him West with me," said Murrell quietly.

"I am willing to spend five hundred dollars on this if necessary."

"I'll have to think your proposition over," said Bladen.

The immediate result of this conversation was that within twenty-four hours a man driving two horses hitched to a light buggy arrived at Scratch Hill in quest of Bob Yancy, whom he found at dinner and to whom he delivered a letter. Mr. Yancy was profoundly impressed by the attention, for holding the letter at arm's length, he said:

"Well, sir, I've lived nigh on to forty years, but I never got a piece of writing before—never, sir. People if they was close by, spoke to me, if at a distance they hollered, but none of 'em ever wrote."

"What's your answer?" demanded the stranger.

"You tell him I'll be monstrous glad to talk it over with him any time he fancies to come out here."

The next day Yancy had occasion to visit Balaam's Cross Roads. Crenshaw gave him a disquieting opinion as to the probable contents of his letter for he himself had heard from Bladen that he had decided to assume the care of the boy.

"I reckon Bladen will have the law on his side, Bob!"

"The law be damned—I 'd 'ot what's fair on mine, I don't wish fo' better than that," exclaimed

IMPORTANT THAT PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW ABOUT GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY

The testimonial I am to give you comes unsolicited. I have been suffering from lumbago for ten years and at times am unable to stand erect.

A Mr. Dean of this city saw me in my condition (bent over) and inquired the cause. I told him that I had the lumbago. He replied, "If you get what I tell you to, you need not have it." I said I would take anything for ease. He said, "You get two bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and take it, and if it does not fix you O. K. I will pay for the medicine myself." I did so and am a well man. For five months I have been as well as could be before I took your Swamp-Root. I was in constant pain day and night. This may look like advertising, but it seems to me most important that the public should be made familiar with this treatment as it is the only one I know which is an absolute cure. I owe a great deal to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and am anxious that others situated as I was should know and take advantage of it. Hoping that this testimonial may be of benefit to some one, I am, Yancy, over his shoulder. He strode from the store and started down the sandy road at a brisk run. Miserable foreboding of an impending tragedy leaped up within him, and the miles were many that lay between him and the Hill.

As he breasted the slope he came within sight of a little group in his own dooryard. Saving only Uncle Sammy Bellamy, the group resolved itself into the women and children of the Hill, but there was one small figure he missed. The patriarch hurried toward him, leaning on his cane.

"They've took your nevy, Bob," he cried, in a high, thin voice.

"Who's took him?" asked Yancy hoarsely.

"Hit were Dave Blount. Get your gun, Bob, and go after him—kill the miserable sneaking cuss!" cried Uncle Sammy.

"By the Fayetteville Road, Bob, not ten minutes ago—you can cut him off at Ox Road forks!"

Yancy breathed a sigh of relief. A rifle was placed in Yancy's hands.

"Thank you all kindly," said Yancy, and turning away he struck off through the pine woods. A brisk walk of twenty minutes brought him to the Ox Road forks.

He had not long to wait, for presently the buggy hove in sight. As the buggy came nearer he recognized his ancient enemy in the person of the man who sat at Hannibal's side, and stepping into the road seized the horses by their bits.

At sight of him Hannibal shrieked his name in delight.

"Uncle Bob—Uncle Bob—" he cried.

"Yes, it's Uncle Bob. You can light down, Nevy."

"Leggo them horses!" said Mr. Blount.

"Light down, Nevy," said Yancy, still pleasantly.

Hannibal instantly availed himself of the invitation. At the same moment Blount struck at Yancy with his whip, and his horses reared wildly, thinking the blow meant for them. Seeing that the boy had reached the ground in safety, Yancy relaxed his hold on the team, which instantly plunged forward.

Then as the buggy swept past him he made a grab at Blount and dragged him out over the wheels into the road, where he proceeded to fetch Mr. Blount a smack in the jaw.

Then with a final skillful kick he sent Mr. Blount sprawling. "Don't let me catch you around these diggings again, Dave Blount, or I swear to God I'll be the death of you!"

Hannibal rode home through the pine woods in triumph on his Uncle Bob's mighty shoulders.

CHAPTER IV.

Law at Balaam's Cross Roads.

But Mr. Yancy was only at the beginning of his trouble. Three days later there appeared on the borders of Scratch Hill a gentleman armed with a rifle. It was Charley Balaam, old Squire Balaam's nephew.

"Can I see you friendly, Bob Yancy?" Balaam demanded with the lungs of a stentor, sheltering himself behind the thick bole of a sweetgum, for he observed that Yancy held his rifle in the crook of his arm.

"I reckon you can, Charley Balaam, if you are friendly," said Yancy.

"I'm a-going to trust you, Bob," said Balaam. And forsaking the shelter of the sweetgum he shuffled up the slope.

"How are you, Charley?" asked Yancy, as they shook hands.

"Only just tolerable, Bob. You've been warranted—Dave Blount swore hit on to you." He displayed a sheet of paper covered with much writing and decorated with a large seal.

"Read it," he said mildly. Balaam scratched his head.

"I don't know that hit's my duty to do that, Bob. Hit's my duty to serve it on to you."

At this juncture Uncle Sammy's bent form emerged from the path that led off through the woods in the direction of the Bellamy cabin. With the patriarch was a stranger.

"Howdy, Charley. Here, Bob Yancy, you shake hands with Bruce Carington," commanded Uncle Sammy. At the name both Yancy and Balaam manifested interest. They saw a man in the early twenties, clean-limbed and broad-shouldered, with a handsome face and shapely head. "Yes, sir, hit's a grandson of Tom Carrington that used to own the grist-mill down at the Forks."

"Where you located at, Mr. Carington?" asked Yancy. But Carington was not given a chance to reply. Uncle Sammy saved him the trouble.

Worked Two Ways

He had sung several times during the evening and his friends had murmured words of praise, then escaped as quickly as possible.

But as he was going homeward he managed to catch one of these self-same friends, and he insisted on a truthful opinion.

"You see," he explained, "I don't quite know how to take Miss Cutcheon's comment on my performances tonight."

"No—really? Why—what did she say?" asked the friend hopefully.

"Well, she said she'd heard Caruso several times and thought his voice was excellent, but she was quite certain that mine was better still."—New York Mail.

An Excess of Realism

"Realism may be carried too far."

The speaker was Augustus Thomas. He was condemning certain over-realistic plays that he had seen in Paris.

"They were so realistic," he said, "that they inflicted pain and disgust on the audience. The audience under this excessive realism suffered like Mrs. Doolittle."

"Mrs. Doolittle was horrified—struck to see her little daughter come home from the beach one morning with her new silk frock cut into about a hundred holes of various sizes."

"What on earth," the mother cried, "have you cut all these holes in your frock for?"

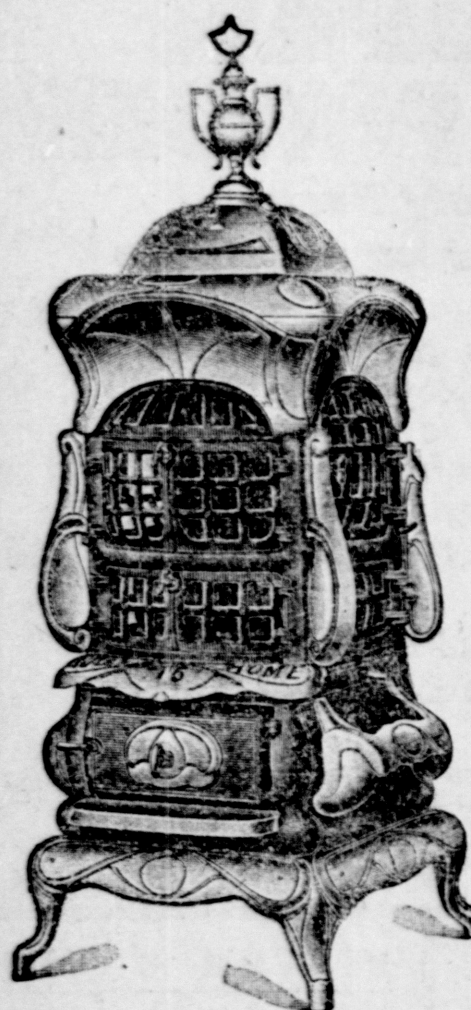

"We was playin' store," the little girl replied, "and I was the Swiss cheese."

A Wrong Hunch

"I don't believe there is anything in that talk about Harlow being hard up," said little Binks. "Why, he's just blossomed forth with a footman on his motor!"

"Footman?" echoed Jinkinson, decisively. "Footman is good! That isn't a

RAILROAD FIGHT IN OREGON OVER

Harriman-Hill Scrap Ended by 999-Year Lease on Hill Line Into Bend, Oregon

There has been a letup in the conflict between the Hill and the Harriman forces in Oregon. Contracts have been signed by the Oregon Trunk line, the Hill extension and the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, the Harriman extension, under which the two roads will enter Bend over the same tracks. The Oregon-Washington road secures equal use of the Oregon Trunk tracks and stations between Metolius and Culver Junction and between Redmond and Bend, altogether about fifty-two miles.

Made 999-Year Lease
The contract obviates the construction of parallel lines through exceedingly difficult territory, it is said, and as the term is 999 years, the Harriman line becomes virtually a half owner of the sections involved. Annual interest charges on operating expenses are to be divided equally. Under this arrangement, the Harriman line will enter Bend simultaneously with the Hill road.

Bend is about 150 miles south of the Columbia and about 110 miles from the Pacific coast. Except for the Malheur canyon on the east, through which the Harriman lines enter Oregon at Vale, the Des Chutes valley is the only water grade pass into a territory of 30,000,000 acres of plateau with an average elevation of 4,100 feet.

May Extend to California
More than a year ago, the H. interests bought the Pacific & Eastern, a twenty-mile line with a seventy-mile franchise, originating at Medford and extending toward the northwest. Work started on this some months ago was suspended when the business outlook became cloudy, but it is expected to be resumed when things pick up. Whether Mr. Hill intends ultimately to extend this line into California and into San Francisco is causing considerable speculation.

The people of Central Oregon will hold a big celebration on October 12, when the Hill and Harriman lines enter Bend.

After forty a man's idea of heaven resolves itself into nothing more nor less than a place where he never will be nagged or bored.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

DEATH CROSSING ENDANGERS LIVES

Carload of People Stops in Front of Train at Mill Street Crossing Last Night

The "Mill street death trap" came close last night to claiming another sacrifice of human life, when the pilot of train No. 5 on the Milwaukee road came to a stop underneath a street car which was stalled with the trolley off directly on the tracks, with a fighting mob of people at the door of the car, struggling to get off.

A train on the River division had just passed the crossing, when the gate tender lifted the gates for the car, not observing No. 5, which was thundering down the track by the viaduct when the car started across. Just as the car got to the center of the track on which No. 5 was coming, a heavy bump on the tracks of the crossing threw the trolley from the wire. The car came to a dead stop directly in the path of the oncoming train, which fortunately was slowing up for the station.

Engineer McMann whistled, and pushed the air brake control "into the corner." The train stopped with a jar with barely a few inches to spare between it and the car, which was about half full of people.

At the sight of the train bearing down upon them, the passengers of the car made a mad dash for the

PERSONAL

JOHN SCHERRER IS KICKED BY HORSE

John Scherrer, an employee of the Gateway City Transfer company, received painful injuries recently when a horse which he was cleaning kicked at him, hitting him in the face. The shoe of the horse struck him a sidelong blow, but much pain resulted from the cuts about the mouth. Immediately after the accident Mr. Scherrer had to be picked up and assisted to his home, which is across the street from the barn. It is reported that the injured man is resting as easily as can be expected.

How Society Woman Wards Off Wrinkles

"Wrinkles are not strangers to me, but when I acquire such disfigurements I know how to lose them in a hurry." A well known society matron confided this to me. I had wondered how she, with her strenuous social duties and late hours, could so completely ward off the usual marks of care and dissipation.

"I don't wear wrinkles in public, nor those horrid rings beneath the eyes," she continued. "Since I've learned what plain, ordinary sallow will do. When any of those hateful marks appear, I send to the drug store for an ounce of powdered sallow and a half pint of witch hazel. I mix the two, bathe my face in the solution and—that's the whole secret. I've never tried anything that works so miraculously. My chin is inclined to double; this trouble, too, I keep in check in the same way."

Grain Letter
CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—There was a heavy tone in wheat today, with values dragging a little lower. There was much week-end selling by scattered local longs, some little foreign selling and a little July selling for the southwest. The northwestern weather was better and the receipts there larger than a year ago.

The corn market was heavy most of the day, but the net loss was not great. There were a number of resting commission house orders to buy which absorbed most of the week-end sales.

Oats sagged with the other grains, the natural result of the ordinary week-end realizing by longs.

Provisions ruled a little higher. Offerings were rather light and there was fairly good buying of January and May lard by shorts.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The single noteworthy incident on today's financial markets was the sharp rise in sterling. On a rather unusually active demand for Saturday, cable transfers advanced 1/4c. There was nothing on the surface of things to explain this movement; all that can be said is that London evidently wishes to draw capital from here, and wants it in advance of next week's stock exchange settlement. Possibly the rise of today may be preliminary to an effort at getting our sterling market up to a figure which would admit of normal gold exports in quantity from here to Europe. Such a result would be beneficial to all parties concerned.

Neither our own stock exchange, nor any stock exchange in Europe, appeared to express apprehension over the general situation; there was nothing in the course of the prices, here or abroad, to bear out the rather gloomy judgment of things which London cabled over. Our own stock market moved idly within a narrow fractional orbit, and closed a trifle over yesterday.

BERT HALL WILL SPEAK TOMORROW

Milwaukee's "Big Brother," Friend of Children,
Boosts for Playgrounds

Bert Hall, the "Big Brother" of Milwaukee fame, is in La Crosse. He will be remembered by local people as the man who engineered the installation of a model children's playground in the grounds of the State fair at Milwaukee, to which many local people contributed when a subscription was raised to make it a possibility.

Mr. Hall is enthusiastic over the success of the children's playground experiment at the fair. He declares that it was the biggest attraction to the children that the entire fair grounds contained.

Sunday evening Mr. Hall will speak at the Universalist church on the Big Brother movement in which he is a commanding figure.

The Big Brother movement is destined primarily for the advantage of the poor working boy who does not get a fair shake.

Following are the statistics of the Big Brother movement for the last two years, as supplied by Mr. Hall: Total cases since June, 1909, 3,425; parole and probation cases, 254; positions secured for boys and girls, 1,068; wages earned by those helped, $300,000; permanent homes secured for homeless boys, 64; cases where advice or temporary help was needed, 1,939; our annual budget calls for only $4,500; only 10 per cent of those helped have been in trouble; 90 per cent are good boys and girls who need help in getting a right start in life.

"Help a fellow to help himself," is the Big Brother and Sister motto.

HUNTER BRIDGE IS ON BRINK OF FALL

Hunter's bridge is tottering for a fall.

At 2 o'clock p. m. Manager William Goodrich received a telephone message from Warren Shonat, who lives near the bridge, that an eddy was working on the center pier and it seemed to be weakening.

At 3 o'clock a new alarm came from Mr. Hansen, who also resides near the bridge. He said the center pier is sagging and the Galesville approach threatens to give way. Only an immediate diminution of the flood, he said would save it, as the entire structure would go with the center pier.

Remember I make this broad statement after putting ten years of my life on this one disease and handling in the mean time a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my medicine, something guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a month's time. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claim. By writing me today you will enjoy more real comfort than you have ever thought this world holds for you. CREEK EDDY IS CAUSE OF RUIN ferred the heaviest loss. Main street runs at right angles to Water street and the buildings on this street were undermined by the back swirl in Town creek.

The power dam was carried out in the first rush of water. Town creek is a small stream coming from the mill pond back in the flats and running parallel to Main street to the river. It is bridged by Water street nearly opposite the McGillivray Sash and Door factory on the island, and nearly in the same general direction of the river before it makes its first turn. It is near the power dam so that the flood in its mad rush continued up between its steep banks until they were overflowed and undermined. The back swirl in this creek was responsible for the destruction of the heavy brick and stone buildings on Main street. The foundations of these buildings were eaten out like so much sand and one by one they fell into shapeless masses of debris which disappeared beneath the water.

Buildings Undermined
The buildings on Water street, being in the direct course of the flood were carried out bodily, often times the bank giving way beneath them in huge chunks. The whole water front of the town is built on low lands and the only noticeable rise is four blocks back. The water on Main street two blocks from the banks of the river reached a depth of fifteen feet and the current was so strong that it carried out eight poles of the Wisconsin Telephone company's cable line in one block. These poles were sixty feet high and heavily loaded with wire and cable which in itself is capable of resisting a tremendous pressure.

The flood did not come down the Black river in one big wave as was first thought, but the river raised with a speed unheard of and continued to increase in volume until the high dam was carried away in the rushing torrent. At noon the roof of the power house was visible above the water but shortly after that there was nothing to show that the power house was there except a big eddy in the stream. The falls on the other side of the island also was completely submerged. The power dam which was recently finished merely backs up the water on one side of the island and was but small impediment in the rush of water.

Raining for Weeks
It has been raining for over three weeks with but few intermissions in the country tributary to the Black river and the big lake at the outlet of which the Hatfield dam is located was gradually filled to the danger line. This lake is about ten miles in length and with its level raised by the barrier of the dam, it became a huge reservoir exerting a tremendous pressure which finally found vent in breaking the dyke or levee forming the shore protection at the west end of the dam. This liberated a flood of water, but the necessity of its flowing a new channel along the canal and railroad embankment to a point far below where only a dirt bank existed to prevent its return to the river checked its progress.

With fourteen feet of water running over the top of the dam, President Ferris and Chief Engineer Woods realized that the limit of its endurance might be reached, and that if that wall of water were released in an instant by the collapse of the dam the valley would be swept by a flood such as history has not known. Therefore they too a radical step to ward off the catastrophe.

They ordered the great dyke that was holding the escaping waters at bay along the canal below the dam to be dynamited, and in an instant there was a clear channel for the escaping flood that was whirling around the end of the dam, through the canal walls and back into the river.

This immediately relieved the pressure and saved the situation. The flood traveled at the rate of about ten miles an hour and reached Black River Falls shortly before noon.

The residence district that was swept out of existence was situated in the flats and consisted of what is called Wason town.

These homes had not the slightest protection, being in the direct line of the current that swept the business district and located near the second bend in the river. The business district and the residence territory that was destroyed formed a sort of an oval which was flanked by the residences on the higher ground which were untouched. The flood had more of a chance to spread out in the flats of the lower residence district but even then the frame buildings were unable to resist its strength.

Water Backs Up Creek
Senator J. J. McGillivray's sash and door factory, which is the principal industry of the town, is located on the island formed by the fork in the river. The Black river falls are at the head of the island in the east fork while the power dam was located opposite in the other branch. The turn in the river just above threw the greater part of the water over to the power dam and into the town. The creek coming down from the opposite direction furnished the natural course for the overflow. There the water was turned by the natural pocket-like formation of the land forming the great whirlpool that destroyed the buildings on Main street.

The foot bridge that was carried away was below the dam and wrecked by the augmented current in the regular channels of the river.

RAGTIME SINFUL SAYS BISPHAM

Great Baritone Declares Americans Like Only Ragtime; Concert Makes a Good Impression

That the average American appreciates only ragtime in any way of music, and that this is a decided sin against artistic taste was the statement made last night by David Bispham in a talk which he used to introduce one of his numbers to the audience. Mr. Bispham, who appeared here a year ago, made a decidedly favorable impression on the large audience which attended the musicale. He was in excellent voice, and his numbers were all received with enthusiastic applause. He was forced to respond to several encores, and eventually had to remind his audience that he had a train to catch before they would finally consent to let him leave the platform.

The work of his accompanist, Harry M. Gilbert, who rendered two piano solos, was also worthy of all the praise which it received. He was especially powerful in his rendition of Godard's "En Route."

possible were those made by line-men with their tester telephones. The Wisconsin Telephone company immediately ordered four crews to Black River Falls to repair the broken cable line. The cable that was carried out on Main street was that of the lead line to the Twin Cities.

The Omaha railroad company kept four trains busy all day and night dumping gravel into the stream near the east pier of the great iron bridge in an attempt to stem the force of the current. The water was up within ten feet of the rails.

Harry Gettman, Tomah, crew superintendent, for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., worked from seven in the morning until late at night without a bite to eat and then perched himself on top of a telephone pole with his tester phone to send news of the disaster. He said that food was needed in the stricken town.

The remnants of the town was in darkness last night because the powerhouse had disappeared in the flood.

The banks of the river are ordinarily fifteen or twenty feet above the surface of the water. The water reached a depth of over fifteen feet in Main street in the flood showing a rise of at least thirty feet.

The only food left in the town after the flood was that in the houses.

Five Houses Standing
Mayor J. J. McGillivray telephoned at noon that but five business houses are left standing in the city. The business section is practically wiped out, and from thirty to forty residences are lost, among them that of former State Senator Bright.

Stories of loss of life are discounted.

Dam Is Relieved
The water at Hatfield last night broke the dyke at the east end of the dam, and with the flood passing around both ends of the dam the water fell above the dam so the top is now in view.

Small Towns Safe
Messages from the small towns above and below the Hatfield dam show they escaped with minor damages. Thirty yards of Green Bay Western track are destroyed near Melrose and the state road dyke is leveled in places, but the big wagon bridge is intact with the water a foot from the stringers. North Bend is safe, the water falling.

SACKETT DODGES RESPONSIBILITY

Says He Believed Detailed Statements of Expenses Were Expected from Candidates Only

MANAGERS ARE OFFICIALS

Leaves Worry Over Itemized Accounts to Stephenson; Fails to Keep Records

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 7.—Detailed examination of Rodney Sackett, who admitted disbursing $98,083.72 in Senator Stephenson's primary campaign, continued this morning before the Stephenson investigating committee. Wide divergence in views as to responsibilities of campaign managers was shown between Chairman Heyburn and the witness. The latter held he believed detailed statements of expenses were expected only from candidates, as far as such knew, and not from workers. Heyburn held that the Wisconsin statutes make managers officials under the law. And, therefore, responsible. Much attention was paid to items for liquor, postage and newspaper advertising. Sackett said he came to Milwaukee and sort of took charge of the Stephenson headquarters without any contract with Stephenson. He had estimated that a thorough organization would cost from $150,000 to $200,000. He was employed from July 1 to October 16, and received "no pay whatever," he said.

Sackett was questioned hard by Sutherland on how he expected Stephenson to file an itemized account if such accounts were not kept. Apparently he left that worry to Stephenson, as he said he understood the law applied only to candidates and not to workers. He had often failed to put down names of men because such men did not want their names to get into the newspapers and they be accused of wrong doing.

Coming to items of nearly $600 to Ellis B. Usher, witness said that Usher was a sort of publicity agent. Chairman Heyburn was quite curious to know what Usher wrote, but the witness could give no information. The chairman hoped to get it later. These items were marked receipted.

"Why were you so particular about receipts in this case and asked none in others?" asked Senator Pomerene.

The witness said they were straight business bills.

"What were the others?"

"They were campaign expenses."

Payments to Small Papers.

Other items referred to were the payments of over $1,500 to the Minneapolis Tidende and of payments to many small foreign papers. Witness did not know who prepared the advertisements or paid articles, nor just what their nature were. He could produce no samples and the chairman requested that he bring in files of some such newspapers.

Sackett admitted disbursing altogether $98,083.72.

He knew nothing about expenses of $9,213.16 in Milwaukee. These were in charge of W. R. Krell.

JUDGE QUARLES DEAD

FORMER U. S. SENATOR FROM WISCONSIN STRICKEN SUD- DENLY AT HIS HOME IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 7.—Judge Joseph V. Quarles died in his home, 286 Juneau avenue, today at 12:30 o'clock. He had been seriously ill several weeks, this being the result of a severe attack of grippe some months ago, from which he never recovered.

Judge Quarles was elected U. S. senator from Wisconsin at the opening of the legislature in 1899. He served six years in that capacity and immediately upon his retirement in 1905 was appointed U. S. district judge for the eastern Wisconsin which position he has held continuously since.

ROADS TIED UP BY BIG STRIKE

Southern Pacific Officials at Wits Ends Trying to Run Texas Trains

BREAKERS UNABLE TO WORK

Strikers Jubilant of Inability of Roads to Run Shops; Man Beaten

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 7.—The huge Southern Pacific shops at Algiers are practically deserted and there was no activity in their neighborhood today. The strikers displayed little interest in the reports that a train load of strikebreakers is en route from the Atlantic coast to take their places.

Railroad officials are at their wits ends to provide cars for the Texas divisions, as complaints from there indicate that there is an alarming car shortage. It is explained that the vandals have been cutting the rubber hose couplings, carrying compressed air for the pneumatic brakes. It is illegal to operate a train on which the cars are not equipped with the airbrakes. Practically all of the shopmen and repairmen who could mend these breaks are on strike.

Strikers Jubilant

M'COMB CITY, Miss., Oct. 7.—Striking members of the systems federation are jubilant over the facts that no signs of activity are heard today from the huge plant of the Illinois Central here, despite the fact that a trainload of strikebreakers have been imported to run the shops in place of the strikers. The federation men claim that only workers who are accustomed to the shops can operate the big machines and that the railroad will be forced to meet their demands through sheer inability to procure men to run the shops. The usual strike pickets are patrolling the outside of the shops, but no violence has been reported today.

Machinist Beaten

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Edward Bloom, 40, a non-union machinist, employed as a strikebreaker in the Illinois Central shops at Burnside, was beaten almost to death today by two unidentified men. He was unconscious when found. When revived, Bloom declared he had been attacked by striking machinists.

MAJESTIC BILL HAS VARIETY

A combination of vaudeville of quality is slated for the first half of the week at the Majestic, starting with the matinee Sunday. Each and every act is a feature by itself and as a whole the bill will be one of true variety.

The Seven Russells, singers, comedians and dancers in a minstrel first part are making their first appearance in the west after several most successful seasons in the larger cities of the east, where their act has been pronounced a big success and novel offering in vaudeville.

The Baader LaVelle Trio of novelty comedy cyclists are conceded by critics to be the most daring of cycle riders, introducing some of the most original and sensational feats ever attempted in this particular line of work. Their comedy is original and of the kind that keeps the audience in a constant uproar.

Real comedians from musical comedies are plenty, but among the king pins of all are Mills & Moulton, presenting "A Trial Performance." The originality of this offering is vouched for by Mr. Barthmann as being one of the best of comedy acts ever seen here.

The Musical Bells, in a novel offering of the musical variety, introducing their famous bell ringing and other musical numbers, including vocal selections, are among the foremost of entertainers.

Nick Conway, as Laughing Casey, in character songs and stories of Irish wit, is an exceedingly clever fellow and no doubt will become a great favorite before the four days of his engagement here come to a close. Comedians of his type have not been very numerous here, so his act should be rather new and very pleasing.

A complete set of moving pictures of universal interest and vital importance to all will be shown and the public should not miss the opportunity of seeing these. It is advisable for all to watch the papers Monday for the big special announcement.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

TWO WARDS GONE IS BLACK RIVER FALLS

company; Jackson County bank; A. H. Johnson, saloon; A. H. Hagen, clothing; H. C. Skow, undertaker; Locken & Lehepner, shoes; Thomas Michels, barber; A. Rossiland, photographer; A. J. Schmur, groceries; F. E. Harme, millinery; Freeman Hotel feed stable; Bright & Barber's feed mill. The Black River Falls postoffice has been partly swept away by the whirling waters, while the grocery store of Monson Bros. is hanging over the water at the end of Main street.

The entire business district of Black River Falls has disappeared while the Black river, raging two blocks out of its course, has formed a new channel in what Friday morning was Water street of the city.

With the destruction of the business section it is estimated that a total loss of $2,500,000 was entailed.

Efforts today to determine the exact amount of damage were fruitless owing to the flood which minutely threatened to tear away other structures.

The entire city is camping out. People in the lowlands moved their household goods and belongings into the streets yesterday afternoon and night in preparation to leave for the higher ground on a minute's notice.

A fall of several feet in the water today gave birth to hope that the remainder of the residence district will be saved, but citizens fearing another rise refuse to re-enter their homes until the great flood has subsided.

At 11:30 Friday morning the river, which had been rising for the last few days, took a sudden jump and warning was spread to hurry everything of value out of the reach of the water. Hardly thirty minutes later, and before it was possible to rescue goods, the left wing of the local power company's dam gave way and the current of the river shifted from the regular channel two blocks from Waer St. square into Water St. and the center of the business district.

Water several feet deep rushed over the banks and through the streets while the wagon bridge leading from the west side of the river was buried in an avalanche of water and a short time later went out. Then the work of destruction started.

The river which before was a rapidly swelling and rushing stream, became a swirling, seething torrent that swept frame buildings away bodily, melted brick structures like lumps of sugar, and before which stone walls fell as before the terrific fire of modern war guns.

Business District Entirely Gone

It was the work of comparatively one hour and the entire business district had completely disappeared. Where it stood raged the river several blocks out of its course. Then the work of the washing began and huge cuts were made by their action west of Water street. Building after building was destroyed and a whole block of Main street, which was at a right angle to Water street has disappeared. The concrete paving of the latter street is broken square off at the water's edge and hangs above the now receding water like a cliff.

The officials of the Jackson County bank and the First National bank, both buildings of which have disappeared, succeeded in getting the funds and books of the institution away before the flood.

Postoffice in Danger
The postoffice which now marks the end of Main street is half undermined by the water and is expected to fall into the river at any minute. The south abutment of the trestle of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, which crosses the river several hundred feet above where stood the wagon bridge, was swept out and was condemned against all traffic until this morning, when the water started to lower. All yesterday afternoon and night a heavy gravel train stood on the bridge to keep the structure from being completely swept away.

Calls for Relief
At 8 o'clock this morning Mayor J. J. McGillivray petitioned the mayors of La Crosse, Baraboo, Milwaukee, Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls for food and financial aid. At 8 a. m. it was decided to destroy what remained of the Black River Falls dam in an effort to throw the channel away from the city and back into its regular course.

Word from the telephone operator at noon today is that North Bend is untouched by the flood and Melrose is safe. The blowing up of the east end of the dam here at noon failed to change the course of the river which is still raging through the business section.

In Darkness
The terrors of the situation last night were increased by the destruction of the lighting plant. The city was in darkness while the great flood was undermining structure after structure and whirling it away a mass of debris.

Fire Peril Also
A new danger, one that will take time to remove, came when the water works went out of commission. Fear of fire spread, the peril being accentuated by the enforced use of many lamps.

A Telephone Hero
It was Harry Gettman, foreman of the Tomah department of the Bell system, who from seven o'clock Friday morning until nine at night maintained an awkward position at the top of a telephone pole and told the world the story of Black River Falls' disaster. Without food for fourteen hours he stuck to his post and maintained the only word of mouth connection with the stricken city.

Farmers Suffer.
The river today is filled with wreckage and communication with the farming districts, where it is known there was large property loss, has not been resumed. It is feared there will be casualties.

The homes of scores of farmers have been swept away and it is believed while many heeded the warnings sent broadcast by the telephone operators at the local exchange, there may be many who may be caught by the flood crest and drowned. So far here no bodies have been reported sighted with the wreckage, which continually whirled in from the northward with the flood waters. The loss to live stock will be almost total.

Melrose Warned.
When the flood reached Melrose last night it carried away roads and bridges, but the people, forewarned long before, had fled to higher ground. Details from half a score of smaller villages further southward were not available early today, as telephone and telegraph wires were carried away by the waters. It is thought the warning reached these places before the danger came. The property loss will be enormous, however.

In this city the flood came to the second stories of many of the buildings and many smaller buildings were entirely submerged.

Hatfield for a time was completely submerged. Although no lives were lost there, the people had no time to remove any of their household goods, and storekeepers, too, suffered great losses.

The river, far out of its banks at points below here, has done immense property loss at Rearing Creek, Irving, North Bend and perhaps some at Holmen, Lytle and Midway.

No Insurance.
The loss will fall heavily on the citizens of the little towns. There was no insurance of property against damage by water, and as the buildings were swept away before they could burn, nothing will be recovered.

J. H. Carnahan, city marshal, deputized twenty-one men to assist him last night. Men were stationed at all places of danger to warn the inhabitants. No cases of looting of the ruins were reported.

FLOODS GENERAL ALL OVER STATE

Chippewa and Wisconsin Rivers on Rampage; Towns Inundated; Dams Go Out

THE RAILROADS SUFFER LOSS

Heavy Rains Cause Millions of Damage by Washouts and to Bridges

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., Oct. 7.—Floods in this section could be unabated. The Chippewa river reached the fourteen-foot stage last night, overflowing its banks.

At 5 o'clock last evening the Soo line concrete arch bridge over Point Creek, east of this city at its confluence with Chippewa river, went out. The Soo line cannot run trains into this city from either east or west points for several days. Almost the entire stretch of the new line built by the Soo last year between here and Minneapolis is washed out.

Today forty feet of the big coffer dam at Cornell, where the Brunet Falls Manufacturing company is building its half million dollar dam for its paper plant, went out.

Small streams in this section have overflowed and carried out dozen of bridges. The big steel wagon bridge over the Chippewa river at Cornell went out this afternoon.

The damage along the upper Chippewa is the worst in sixteen years.

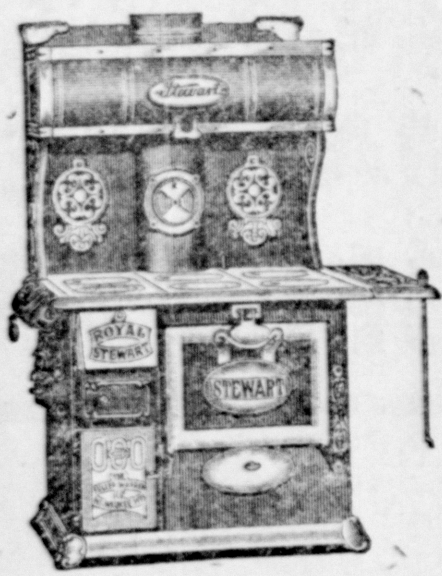

GRAND RAPIDS, Wis., Oct. 7.—The constant rain for the past three weeks has so swollen the Wisconsin river that fear is entertained of a flood similar to that here in October, 1898. The river has been rising constantly for four days, and registers the highest water since 1898.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Oct. 7.—The Rock river is higher than it has been in years. It is thirteen inches above normal, but no danger is anticipated.

NEENAH, Wis., Oct. 7.—Neenah is flooded in consequence of the worst rainstorm of years. Cellars all over town are flooded and furnace fires extinguished, resulting in much discomfort because of cold.

OBITUARY

S. R. McKinley was born in Crawford county, Pa., Sept. 10th, 1830, the county being a wilderness at that date.

His father and mother came from the north of Ireland.

In 1851, with all that he claimed as his own in a pack on his back, he started south from his father's home to join his brother, James, in the valley of the La Crosse river.

In 1862 he was married to Emily

J. McMill. He was associated with nearly all of the pioneer lumbermen of the upper Black river, and many are the reminiscences he recalled of S. F. Weston, Bill McClelland, Bill Price, Jim O'Neil, Lije Eton, "Ald Shep," Tom Withee, Hugh Miller and Bob Ross, as he familiarly called them and others well known here in the early days.

For forty-four years he made his home on his farm north of West Salem and in 1900 removed to West Salem to spend the rest of his days.

The first diminishing list of those who came to this valley in the fifties has lost another name and the community one of its best known old settlers.

Few have carried habitual sunshine with them to such an extent as he whom we all knew as "Uncle Sam," and few ever develop so sound and productive a philosophy of cheer.

He was devoted to children and delighted in telling them stories and drawing out their ideas.

During the hours so spent his listeners were not much more thoroughly children than their entertainer.

What with his comradeship with the young, his association and friendships of years with the old, and his good will and cheer to all, he will be missed as few men are missed.

He came of old Presbyterian stock and loved to read and quote his Bible and showed clearly his attitude toward the mysterious change that he was facing by quoting the following passage, as the most suitable expression of his faith, "I am drawing near to the eternal. May I lay my hand in Christ's and claim him as my Saviour, all unworthy as I am! Behold I am vile, but his righteousness is perfect. I trust that God, for Christ sake, hath pardoned all my sins. Lord increase my faith. Holy Spirit prepare me for the change that I know is approaching. Oh, for strength and grace for my dying hour! May I stand continually on the watch tower, remembering that those servants are blessed whom the Master, when he cometh, shall find watching."

These were the last written words of his mother and he chose them and repeated them as an expression of his own faith just before the curtain of uncertainty and later the deeper shadow of unconsciousness descended.

HAL PIONEER! All hail to thee! Old Pioneer, Who, unafraid of prospects drear, Came westward to the bleak frontier, Leaving your home,

A half a century or more Of golden years have flitted o'er Since you turned from your father's door, Your childhood's home,

Since here you turned the virgin sod, And grim privation's pathway trod, With faith in man and faith in God, You made a home.

The house you built, a cabin rude, At best, equipped with comforts crude, Seemed in those strenuous days, as good As any home.

But with the increase of the years, Ye clean, home-loving pioneers, Before ye sought succor of cares, Built better homes.

With life's grim trials well endured, With rest and honors well secured, With peace and plenty well insured, In the new home,

Comes the mysterious demand To get you to another land, And ye set forth with empty hand For one more home.

All hail to thee! brave Pioneer, God speed you to your last frontier, Where you shall share the angels' cheer, The perfect home.

RAINS MAY SPOIL THE POTATO CROP

Unless the rains in the vicinity of La Crosse cease, the outlook is that the late crop of potatoes will be spoiled, for the ground is so damp that they will rot before they can be dug out.

However, if it clears up and the ground is given a chance to dry, there is every prospect of a large crop of excellent quality. The crop is now ready to be harvested.

VERONA DOCTOR DRUNK IN COURT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 7.—(Special.)—Dr. I. H. Leslie of Verona, a village near here, came into the municipal courtroom yesterday afternoon in an intoxicated condition and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Anthony Donovan. Leslie's mission in court was to face trial on a charge brought by the state board of health for failing to report a case of diphtheria. He had declared it was a case of membranous croup. His attorney, John A. Aylward, came to court alone and announced he had withdrawn from the case, after advising Leslie to plead guilty. Leslie soon after entered the courtroom with another attorney, and his condition led to his arrest on a drunk and disorderly charge. County Poor Commissioner H. J. Sutherland, District Attorney R. N. Nelson and Undersheriff O. H. Burmeister were witnesses against him. The health board's case against him was adjourned until Oct. 11.

I especially solicit the stubborn, chronic, seemingly incurable cases. BOSTON TAR BABY IS HEAVY HITTER

Sam Langford Considered Hardest Hitter in the Ring by Old Time Fighters

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—When Sam Langford knocked out Tony Ross, the 210 pound Italian, at the National Sporting club recently, the finishing blow was a left hook that did not travel more than six inches before it collided with the point of the jaw. Langford did not appear to over-exert himself when he shot this wonderful punch to the mark. It was delivered at close range and had so much speed that probably less than fifty spectators saw it land.

Langford had been blocking and sidestepping numerous swings when he suddenly saw the proper opening. Then he feinted with his right and moving closer with rapidity he raised the left hand, at the same time giving the wrist a sudden twist. The punch did not land underneath the jaw, but just above the chin in the vicinity of the back teeth and Ross fell like a log.

The Tar Baby knocked out Philadelphia Jack O'Brien with a left, but it was an overhand swing driven with tremendous force. O'Brien was running away at the time, looking back over his left shoulder. Langford following closely, threw his weight into an accurate punch that caught O'Brien high up on the jaw just in front of the ear and put the ancient Quaker out of the mill.

Jim Smith was sent into dream-land with a right uppercut. Langford started it apparently for the pit of the stomach and then ripped it up, at the same time jumping clear off the floor to increase the impact.

Many ring experts believe that Langford is the hardest hitter in the world, not excepting Jack Johnson.

BADGERS PLAY FIRST GAME TODAY

Lawrence Eleven Meets
Wisconsin at Madison;
Varsity in Good
Form

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 7. — Wisconsin will play its initial game on the 1911 conference schedule today against the Lawrence college eleven. Although an untried aggregation, Badger rooters will feel keenly disappointed should the Madison town fail to run up a fairly good sized score against the up state collegians.

Wisconsin will rely mostly upon the slambang style of battle, Coach Richards having given orders to uncover as few of the trick plays as possible. These, too, will not be used unless in case of dire necessity.

Heretofore it has been the custom of Wisconsin coaches to hold the score down as low as possible, piling up just enough of a count to win. Last year's game with the Lawrence squad, however, when the Methodists held them to a 6 to 6 tie, has taught Badger pilots a lesson and they have instructed the squad to play the game from the start this year.

Four of last year's eleven are still members of the team and it is their desire more than anything else to be able to literally wipe the floor with their opponents. The disgrace of being held to a tie by a team that is rated only as a practice aggregation is still ranking in the breasts of all Madison rooters.

Capt. Buser, who is still nursing a battered arm and who has been ordered by the coaches to keep out of the game, is perhaps the only one of the veterans who will not participate in the fray. Gillette, however, may not be kept in the

DIAMOND DUST

The Giants and the Athletics have the winning habit; they never know when they've got enough. Gee, but wouldn't you like to back them in a crap game?

In the first game with the Giants, Toots Schultz, former university of Pennsylvania captain yielded only one scratch hit for six innings, then went to pieces. He promises well for next year.

With three men on bases in the seventh and the Yankees away out in front, Eddie Collins laced out a triple that won the game for the Athletics.

Here's hoping he will repeat against McGraw's chore boys.

Coombs, on whom Mack must depend much to lick the Giants, was driven from the box by the Yankees. He must be saving that pitching whip.

This recruit Donnelly that Tenney has picked up is putting them across like a real pitcher. Kindly turn your lamps in his direction next year.

The Infants fell upon old Cy Young and Weaver in the stanza, and great was the slaughter thereof.

Alexander the Great has left the Phillies in a huff, declaring that he could not see a $3,200 a year salary through these Yerkes telescopes. Maybe he'll get more and maybe he won't. But he'll be back.

The lowly Browns declined to let Hughie Jennings experiment upon them with a bunch of rookies. They fell upon the Tigers, Jr., and skinned them 11 to 5.

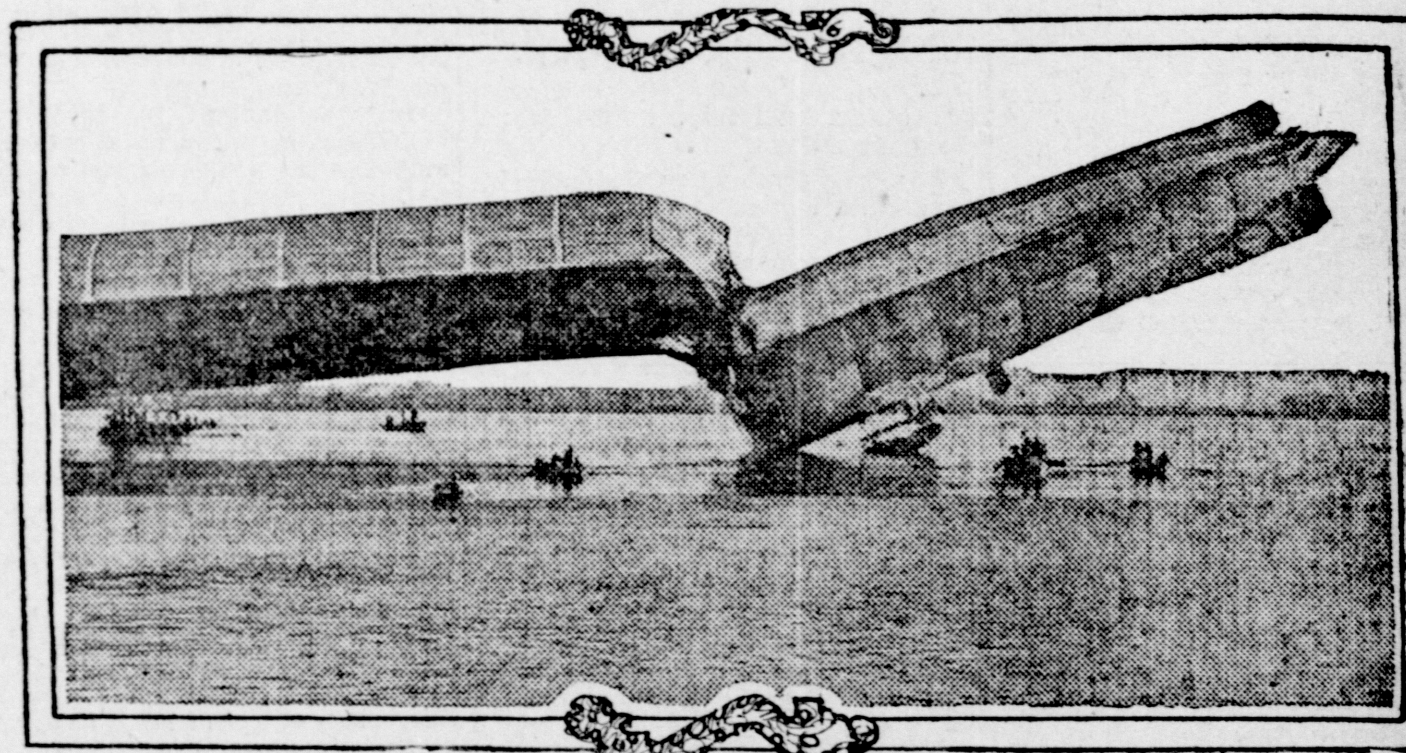

Even when pitted against these, Buck O'Brien, the Red Sox recruit, had the goods on him, holding the Senators to six hits and winning his game 3 to 1.

Poor old Sam Lloyd has passed away, and he seems the only man who could have told the national commission how to put 101,000 baseball fans in a park that, at best, will hold only 50,000.

Bullets taken from Mexican soldiers wounded in the Yaqui revolt against the Diaz regime are of solid gold.

THESE YOUNG MEN are Graduates of the Wisconsin Business University who recently sent us their photos and friendly letters telling us of recent Advancement and Promotion. They are receiving from $1200 to $5000 per year. WE HAVE HUNDREDS IN THIS CLASS.

Every bank, business man, lawyer, doctor, teacher, clergyman and bishop in La Crosse recommends and patronizes the Wisconsin Business University. Why?

Because it is the BEST absolutely. You know it—everyone knows it. "Ask the men you may apply to for a position, after you graduate from the school to attend."

The W. B. U. is not a "cheap" school. You do not want a "cheap" education, or a cheap position after you graduate? Is the best too good? A business education is not like a heap suit of clothes, a watch, etc. You can throw these away. You are building brains now. YOU MUST have the RIGHT teachers, the RIGHT methods, the RIGHT up-to-the-minute office devices, the RIGHT employment department, and a diploma from a school that PROVES it has ALL of these.

Can a CHEAP school have these things? Is it not up to you to THINK, to investigate, and see why it is that every man in this city who counts to anything, whose opinion is worth having, advises young men and women to "attend the W. B. U. if you really want to amount to anything?"

The faculty, equipment, methods, office devices, etc., etc., of the W. B. U. are organized to compete with any school in New York City, Chicago, New Orleans or San Francisco. Why? So YOU can compete for the GOOD positions in these very cities and be prepared to do something besides the work of a country office, with a country salary, and country prospects for the future.

Where other school graduates are laughed at, ours receive not only respectful attention, but the position itself. Whoever hears of any other Wisconsin school in New York—fifteen graduates—Chicago—two hundred graduates—St. Paul and Minneapolis—three hundred graduates—Washington, D. C.—fifteen graduates—and all through the west? What other school SWEARS that it has 8,000 in positions? What other school proves to you every month that it locates its students in positions every day in the year? What other school shows such sterling, genuine commendations from men at the very top of Life's ladder?

And yet you may be the very one considering "how cheap"—shackling your boy or girl with a shoddy, shallow, superficial and inferior education. Inferior, yes, because if business schools were doing the work we are, they would duplicate our sworn monthly statements, and after years of business would be able to prove their right to live by furnishing proof that they are "making good." This whole paper would not hold our list, nor one-tenth of it, yet the whole life history of most schools as far as employed graduates are concerned is contained on a half page.

My catalogue and lists contain more names of students sent to positions than all the schools in Minnesota and Wisconsin combined, and I stand ready to prove it to the public.

Now, young man, or young woman, father or mother, if this is true, and it is true, what are you going to do—investigate, think of your future, figure out what this really is, and ask for proof. Do not jump at conclusions, or accept broad statements made to deceive the ignorant. Prepare yourself in a school that puts you out of the great competing class of half baked, poorly paid office help.

Graduate from a school whose good word, influence, diploma and letter of commendation means something. Graduate from a school that LOCATES its graduates. Ask any other school to prove to you it has located one hundred students the past year, yes, fifty, yes, twenty-five. Then you will understand our "Monthly Sworn List," which proves what we do every month.

Don't let your boy or girl walk the streets of some city dismayed, heart-sick, incompetent. When W. B. U. graduates go to cities, they go to positions awaiting them.

The W. B. U. is founded on TRUTH not DECEPTION.

Catalogue free. Students may enter any time.

VIROQUA, WIS.

O. G. Lewis, cashier of the De Soto bank, and M. C. Olson, also of De Soto, have become joint owners and co-partners with Ed Vig of this city in the De Soto store recently purchased by the latter.

The concrete dam just completed at Viola, went out in the storm this week. It is reported that the damage will reach about $4,000, besides the delay in getting Viola's light plant in operation.

Fred Stedman and Hazel Williams, both of Ontario, were united in marriage.

G. Gage and wife of Trippville went to Madison to take the Pasteur treatment for hydrophobia.

Capitalists from neighboring places went to Ontario with the intention of starting a bank, but were disappointed to learn that such steps had already been taken.

Frank H. Burlin, a prominent Viroqua druggist for a number of years, now owner of a Tomah pharmacy, was united in marriage at high noon, Oct. 4th, to Miss Frances Ferguson of Binghamton, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at her home, in the presence of a few guests. After the ceremony the couple departed on a honeymoon trip through the east, and will arrive at Tomah next week, where their home is already furnished. Mrs. Burlin has been a teacher in Binghamton for many years. Mr. Burlin first met her a number of years ago, while he was making a visit with relatives in the east.

Mayor Mork has appointed Gen. E. M. Rogers, Supt. C. E. Butters, Mrs. L. R. Gott of this city, and Van Bennett of Rockton, as delegates to the Wisconsin Conference of Charities and Corrections, to be held in Milwaukee Oct. 12 to 15.

The following marriage licenses have been issued: Helmer Melby and Rocella Larson, both of Christiansburg; Torger Christoferson, Hamburg, and Nordrum, Coon; Bernt Rude and Tometti Haukland, both of the town of Viroqua; Joseph E. Stromstad of La Crosse county, and Susanna Steumpges, Coon Valley; Louis Garavaglia and Mary Panchi, both of Genoa; John A. Holl, Freeburg, Houston county, Minn., and Marie Beffa, Genoa; Fred G. Stedman and Hazel Williams, both of Ontario; Thorwald Peterson, Cash-ton and Josephine Olson, Hamburg.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The educational work at the Young Women's Christian association has been organized during the week and the prospects for splendid classes along all lines is good.

The schedule as now arranged with the changes which have been found necessary as the enrollment has been taken is as follows:

Monday night—German, orchestra, business class (stenography and typewriting), beginners' gymnasium class.

Tuesday night—Common school branches, Christmas arts (embroidery, stenciling, etc.), O. C. club (study club), advanced gymnasium class, millinery, Bible class.

Wednesday—Cooking, Glee club. Thursday—Plain sewing, household arts (correct serving, bed making, etc.), study of short stories, beginners' gymnasium, north side Bible class, Girls' Friendship club (French conversation).

Friday—English for foreigners, advanced gymnasium class, Bible class.

Saturday—"Frolic night" in the gymnasium from 6 to 10, gymnasium open to all young women.

The classes in first aid to the injured and invalid cookery will not begin for a few weeks.

It is hoped that all those who are thinking of joining classes will do so immediately that they may get the benefit of the beginning work.

The work for juniors will begin Oct. 21.

The monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the young women are to have the privilege of hearing Mrs. Elihu Colman speak at the Vesper service. Mrs. Colman, before her departure from the city, was on the board of directors of the local association and did much during the beginning of the work in La Crosse to make permanent the work.

Mrs. Colman is now giving her services in a large way to the association work in Seattle. It is hoped that not only the newer members of the association but many who were in the work when Mrs. Colman was here, will plan to hear her Sunday.

FIVE SWITCHMEN ARE LAID OFF

Following the general retrenchment policy announced after the yearly report showed a decrease in profits from last year, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road yesterday evening laid off five switch-tenders employed in the north side yards indefinitely.

The switch tenders laid off include the two day and night men at Camp 20, the day and night men at Grand Crossing, and the day man at the Mill street crossing.

This wholesale reduction of force is not confined to La Crosse. It is said by local officials that switch-tenders all over the system, as far out as the coast, have been laid off, in order to effect a saving of thousands of dollars in wages per month. The brakemen of each train will from now on be required to perform their own switching operations.

LOSES THUMBS IN MACHINE

William Bacon, who is employed at the La Crosse can company, this morning caught his hands in the die of the machine he was operating with the result that the tips of both thumbs were cut off. Mr. Bacon was rushed to the offices of Dr. J. A. Rowles, and the physician announced that no serious results would follow as only the tips of the thumbs were cut off. Otherwise neither hand suffered.

John Sokolik, 1106 Avon street,
La Crosse, Wis., says: "I do not think there is any other medicine on the market as effective as Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were unnatural and I had backaches and pains across my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health and I feel that I am in a position to advise their use in other cases of kidney trouble."

RIVER RISES FOOT ON NORTH SIDE

Following the bursting of the dams at Hatfield, and the washing away of Black River Falls, the Black river has risen over a foot in ten hours, and is still gradually rising. No danger is foreseen for North La Crosse in the rising of the waters, as the greater part of the water goes through the Hammond and Dodge chutes at Lytle's direct into the river.

The boat houses along Copeland park are safe unless wreckage floating down the stream tears them from their moorings. This is not expected to happen, as the force of the greater part of the current will carry the driftwood and wreckage through the chutes about direct into the Mississippi.

When the world is as glad as some of us think it is, or as good as others of us think it ought to be, it will come to an end.

Another agreeable thing about being broke is that you don't have to think about laying up anything for the rainy days of your grandchildren.

TRY THIS FOR COLDS

Prescription Known for Results Rather than Large Quantity

Go to your druggist and get "Two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine compound. Mix these with half a pint of good whiskey. Shake well. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Smaller doses to children according to age." Any one can prepare this at home. This is said to be the quickest cough and cold cure known to the medical profession. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screw-top sealed case. If the druggist is out of stock he will quickly get it from his wholesale house. Don't fool with uncertain mixtures. It is risky.

HARVEST BALL TO BE GIVEN SOON

Fraternal Order Will Give First Ball of Series Soon; Glee Club Is Organized

Thursday evening the Fraternal Reserve entertained its members and invited friends with a private dancing party, a four-piece orchestra being engaged and other arrangements made to make the evening a pleasant one for the large crowd that was present.

At the business session the second class of candidates were taken into the order and the plans for making the Harvest ball at Linker's hall, next Wednesday night, one of the big successes of the series, were discussed. A feature of this ball will be the harvest decorations and the harvest moon, while the orchestra has been instructed to render a program of the catchy and popular variety. The number of invitations that has been issued and the extensive preparations made for a large crowd, gives promise of a most successful social affair.

A chorus of male voices has been organized among the members of the order, with the intention of putting on many fine entertainments for the fall and winter months, and in connection with the Mandolin club a number of operettas and minstrels can be undertaken without much difficulty. Prof. Marsten of the La Crosse School of Music has been engaged to take charge of the male chorus, while the other musical talent is being organized for effective service.

Those taking part in the male chorus are as follows: Will Bennett, Gus Boerner, Mike Nowak, Fred Rouse, Nels Knudson, Harry Tietz, John Kabat and others as their talent qualifies them in the different parts.
